Each of the US states and territories has a full page color map. Overall, the copy being offered is in distressed but readable condition. As you'll notice in my first three photos, the soft covers, which appear to be fabric over thin cardboard, have many stains, tears, creases, wrinkles, and fraying along the edges. The big top to bottom creases seen on the front and back covers have cracked the cardboard portions of the covers visible inside the front cover in my 4th photo, and care must be exercised to prevent the covers from tearing in two. Both covers are also loose from the binding, but the inner pages are rather tightly bound. The thin pages have yellowed and are still crisp enough to read, but they are brittle enough for care to be necessary when turning pages; a few pages do have some tears. Also, the title page is missing, and at least one page is missing at the back cover; the two sheets containing pages 435-438 facts and maps of Wisconsin and Wyoming are present but detached, as my final photo shows.
